

Muslim Conversions to Christ: A Critique of Insider Movements in Islamic Contexts

Peter Lang, 2018

Edited By Ayman S. Ibrahim and Ant Greenham

Table of Contents

Contributors xi

Foreword xvii

R. Albert Mohler, Jr.

Preface xxi

Ayman S. Ibrahim and Ant Greenham

Part I

1. The Patriarch and the Insider Movement: Debating Timothy I, Muhammad, and the Qur'an 3

Brent Neely

Part II

2. Building a Missiological Foundation: Modality and Sodality 81

Bill Nikides

3. Why the Church Cannot Accept Muhammad as a Prophet 105

James Walker

4. Muslim Followers of Jesus, Muhammad and the Qur'an 123

Harley Talman

5. Who Makes the Qur'an Valid and Valuable for Insiders? Critical Reflections on Harley Talman's Views on the Qur'an 139

Ayman S. Ibrahim

6. Biblical Salvation in Islam? The Pitfalls of Using the Qur'an as a Bridge to the Gospel 159

Al Fadi

7. Insider Movements: Sociologically and Theologically Incoherent 179

Joshua Fletcher

8. The Biblical Basis for Insider Movements: Asking the Right Question, in the Right Way 209

Kevin Higgins

9. The New Testament Record: No Sign of Zeus Insiders, Artemis Insiders, or Unknown-God Insiders 227

Fred Farrokh

10. Communal Solidarity versus Brotherhood in the New Testament 247

Ant Greenham

11. Messianic Judaism and Deliverance from the Two Covenants of Islam 265

Mark Durie

12. Word Games in Asia Minor 283

Duane Alexander Miller

13. "Son of God" in Muslim Idiom Translations of Scripture 299

Donald Lowe

14. Tawhīd: Implications for Discipleship in the Muslim Context 327
Mike Kuhn

15. A Practical Look at Discipleship and the Qur'an 345
M. Barrett Fisher

Part III

16. Essential Inside Information on the Insider Movement 365
Paige Patterson

17. A Response to Insider Movement Methodology 375
M. David Sills

18. Silver Bullets, Ducks, and the Gospel Ministry: Should We Seek One Best Solution for Winning People to Christ? 387
George H. Martin

19. Radical Discipleship and Faithful Witness 395
Timothy K. Beougher

20. Watching the Insider Movement Unfold 397
Georges Houssney

21. The Great Commission and the Greatest Commandment 409
James Cha

22. Opening the Door: Moving from the Qur'an to New Testament Anointing
413
Don McCurry

23. The Insider Movement: Is This What Christ Requires? 415
Carol B. Ghattas

24. Our Believing Community Is a Cultural Insider but Theological Outsider (CITO) 423

Abu Jaz

25. Question Marks on Contextualization! 431

Weam Iskander

26. A BMB's Identity Is in Christ, Not Islam 435

Ahmad Abdo

27. Let Their Voice Be Heard 437

Azar Ajaj

28. A Former Muslim Comments on the Insider Movement 439

Ali Boualou

29. The Insider Movement and Iranian Muslims 441

Mohammad Sanavi

30. A Disturbing Field Report 447

Richard Morgan

31. The Insider Movement and Life in a Local Body of Believers: An Impossible Union from the Start 451

Daniel L. Akin

Epilogue: Force Majeure: Ethics and Encounters in an Era of Extreme Contextualization 455

David Harriman

Appendix: Do Muslim Idiom Translations Islamize the Bible? A Glimpse behind the Veil 501

Adam Simnowitz

Index 525

Contributors

Ahmad Abdo is an Egyptian born again Christian from a Muslim background. He has been a believer from around 2010, and has been serving among Muslims in Egypt since his conversion. His ministry focuses on discipling Muslim converts in Egypt.

Abu Jaz (a pseudonym) is a believer and follower of the Lord Jesus Christ from a Muslim background. Since 2003 he has served the Lord in an East African country as Head of Christian-Muslim Relations in the Evangelical Churches Alliance. His activities include training and mobilizing evangelical churches, and church planting among Muslims. He also holds bachelor's degrees in Bible and Theology, and in Global Studies and International Relations.

Azar Ajaj was born and raised in Nazareth, Israel, where he is an ordained minister, serving his Arab Israeli community in a number of ways over the past 25 years. He is a coauthor of Arab Evangelicals in Israel and is currently working on his Ph.D. degree with Spurgeon's College, doing research on the history of the Baptists in Israel. He also serves as the President (and as a lecturer) at Nazareth Evangelical College.

Daniel L. Akin currently serves as President of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary and is a Professor of Preaching and Theology. He and his wife Charlotte have been married since 1978 and have four sons, who all serve in the ministry. Together, they have traveled to countries in Africa, the Middle East, Central and South Asia, and South America, serving students and missionaries and helping share the gospel.

Al Fadi (a pseudonym) is a former Muslim from Saudi Arabia and follower of Christ. He is the founder and C.E.O. of CIRA International, a consulting agency focused on training and equipping (Christian) leaders in the field of Islamic Studies, through seminars, online Webinars and global media outreach, since 2002. He also hosts the popular radio show, "Let Us Reason—a Dialogue with Al Fadi."

Timothy K. Beougher is Associate Dean of the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Ministry at Southern Seminary, serving as Billy Graham Professor of Evangelism and Church Growth. Before coming to Southern Seminary in 1996, he taught evangelism at Wheaton College and was associate director of the Institute of Evangelism at the Billy Graham Center. He has authored numerous works on evangelism, discipleship, and spiritual awakening.

Ali Boualou, born and raised Muslim, converted to Christianity in 2002 in Morocco. He was ordained a pastor in 2007, serving a house church in Rabat, Morocco. He has led several Bible training courses among converted people in North Africa.

James Cha is a Presbyterian minister, conference speaker, writer and missionary in Washington, D.C., holding a B.S. and M.Eng. in Electrical Engineering, and an M.A. in Bible Exposition. While serving in Central Asia for ten years, he and his wife brought more than 120 Muslims to faith in Christ, and planted four house churches.

Mark Durie is an Anglican priest, evangelist and human rights activist, and Adjunct Research Fellow of the Arthur Jeffery Centre for the Study of Islam. He holds doctorates in linguistics (Australian National University) and quranic theology (Australian College of Theology), and pastors a congregation of former Muslims in Melbourne, Australia.

Fred Farrokh is a Muslim-background Christian. He holds an M.A. in Public Policy Analysis and Administration, and a Ph.D. in Intercultural Studies. He is an ordained missionary with Elim Fellowship, and has served with SAT-7 Middle East, Jesus for Muslims Network, and Global Initiative: Reaching Muslim Peoples.

M. Barrett Fisher has served in a Southeast Asia Muslim context for the past 10 years. He holds a B.S. in Business Administration, an M.Div. in Intercultural Church Planting, and a Ph.D. in Applied Theology.

Joshua Fletcher (a pseudonym) is an ordained minister with the Assemblies of God and serves with Assemblies of God World Missions in Central Eurasia. Focusing on discipleship and church planting among those from Muslim backgrounds, he speaks three non-Arabic languages. A graduate of the Brownsville Revival School of Ministry, he is close to completing a Master's degree from Regents Theological College, focusing on the Spirit and justification by faith.

Carol B. Ghattas is a writer and speaker on Islam and ministry to Muslims. She earned her M.Div. from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and served for over 20 years with her late husband, Raouf, as International Mission Board representatives in the Middle East and North Africa. Coauthor of their book A Christian Guide to the Qur'an, she continues to serve at the Arabic Baptist Church, which they founded, in Murfreesboro, TN.

Ant Greenham is Associate Professor of Missions and Islamic Studies at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He earned his Ph.D. from Southeastern in 2004, with a dissertation on Palestinian Muslim conversions. Before embarking on his current academic career, he lived in the Middle East in a diplomatic capacity, opening the first South African Embassy in Amman, Jordan, in 1993.

David Harriman is a fundraising professional serving the Middle East region. Prior to five years in consulting with not-for-profit clients, he served for one year with Arab World Ministries, and for 18 years with Frontiers, principally as Chief Development Officer. Before joining Frontiers, he served with InterVarsity Christian Fellowship in development and missions, including as marketing director for the Urbana Student Missions Convention.

Kevin Higgins has served in the Muslim world in East Africa and South Asia. He was International Director of Global Teams from 2000 to 2017, and continues to serve as Muslim Ministries Coordinator for the Asia region, and oversees Global Teams' growing involvement in Bible translation. He received a Ph.D. in translation from Fuller's School of Intercultural Studies in 2013, and was appointed as the President of William Carey International University in 2017.

Georges Housney, Lebanese born and raised, has been in full time ministry to Muslims and international students for over four decades. He holds degrees in Psychology, Education, and Linguistics. He is well known for directing a contemporary translation of the Bible into Arabic and is author of Engaging Islam. As founder and director of Horizons International, he travels extensively, preaching, teaching, training, and planting churches worldwide.

Ayman S. Ibrahim is Bill and Connie Jenkins Associate Professor of Islamic Studies at Southern Seminary, where he directs the Jenkins Center for the Christian Understanding of Islam. Born and raised in Egypt, he has authored The Stated Motivations for the Early Islamic Expansion. His articles on Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations appeared in The Washington Post and elsewhere. He is currently working on his second Ph.D. on Islamic History at Haifa University.

Weam Iskander is a Christian minister, writer, and leadership trainer in Egypt, holding a B.A. in Mass Communication, and an M.A. in Organizational Leadership. He has worked among believers in Christ in the broader Middle East and North Africa region for the past two decades.

Mike Kuhn has spent most of his adult life in Morocco, Egypt and Lebanon, serving in the areas of discipleship and teaching. Currently, he works with the Evangelical Presbyterian Church and is seconded to the Arab Baptist Theological Seminary in Beirut. He holds masters' degrees in divinity and Arabic language and literature. His Ph.D. research was in the area of Arab Christian theological response in the Muslim context.

Donald Lowe is a church planter in Southeast Asia with World Team. He holds an M.S. in Electrical Engineering, an M.A. in Theology from Fuller Theological Seminary, and a Certificate in Applied Linguistics from the Graduate Institute of Applied Linguistics.

George H. Martin is Professor of Christian Missions and World Religions at Southern Seminary, chairs the Department of Evangelism and Missions, and edits The Southern Baptist Journal of Missions and Evangelism. Before coming to Southern Seminary in 1996, he served in Southeast Asia and taught at North Greenville University.

Don McCurry, President of Ministries to Muslims, has worked in the Muslim world since 1957. He holds a B.Sc. from the University of Maryland, an M.Th. from Pittsburg Seminary, an M.Ed. from Temple University, and a Doctorate in Intercultural Studies from Fuller Seminary. Currently, he teaches, mentors and coaches workers in many fields.

Duane Alexander Miller lives in Madrid, serving on the pastoral staff at the Anglican Cathedral of the Redeemer and adjunctively on the Protestant Faculty of Theology (U.E.B.E.). Author of Living among the Breakage: Contextual Theology-making and ex-Muslim Christians, with a Ph.D. from the University of Edinburgh on World Christianity, he is researcher/lecturer at-large in Muslim-Christian relations for the Christian Institute of Islamic Studies (San Antonio, Texas).

R. Albert Mohler Jr. is President of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. An authority on contemporary issues, he has been recognized by such influential publications as Time and Christianity Today as a leader among American evangelicals. In addition to his presidential duties, he hosts “The Briefing,” a daily analysis of news and events from a Christian worldview, and “Thinking in Public,” a series of conversations with the day’s leading thinkers.

Richard Morgan (a pseudonym) has been married 34 years, and is the father of two grown children. He worked in banking before serving as a pastor, and has over 12 years' experience ministering among unreached peoples in Southeast Asia.

Brent Neely works with church-based outreach to refugees in Europe and humanitarian projects in the Middle East. He holds a Master of Divinity degree and is studying for the Ph.D. at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. He and his wife served in the Middle East for 18 years.

Bill Nikides is a Christian minister, writer and educator living in Italy. He holds a B.A. in History, two Masters degrees (to include an M.Div.), and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in theology. He has worked in the Muslim world for 39 years, 14 of which have involved church planting among Muslim convert Christians.

Paige Patterson serves as President of The Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. He is also a Professor of Biblical Theology. Our Lord has graciously allowed him to proclaim the good news of Christ in more than 130 countries.

Mohammad Sanavi was born into a devout Muslim family in Iran. During his last year of high school, he came to saving faith in Christ Jesus through the reading of a New Testament and the ministry of a Christian radio station. Over the subsequent 25 years, he has served among Iranian Muslims and Muslim converts to Christ. The author of several books and video resources, he provides theological education and training to Farsi-speaking pastors and church leaders.

M. David Sills is Founder and President of Reaching & Teaching International Ministries and A.P. & Faye Stone Professor of Christian Missions and Cultural Anthropology at The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He holds an M.Div. from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and a D.Miss. and Ph.D. in Intercultural Studies from Reformed Theological Seminary. He also served as a missionary in Ecuador.

Adam Simnowitz is a minister with the Assemblies of God. He holds a B.A. in Bible and Missions from Central Bible College (Springfield, MO), an M.A. in Muslim Studies from Columbia International University (Columbia, SC), and has studied Arabic in the Middle East. He and his family reside in Dearborn, MI.

Harley Talman (a pseudonym) is a missiologist, author, and professor with a Th.M. in Missions and Ph.D. in Intercultural Studies (in Islam). After two decades of church planting and theological education in the Middle East and North Africa region, he teaches Islamic studies and trains workers serving among Muslims.

James Walker has been engaged for over 25 years in Islamic ministry and research. He has led and taught numerous seminars for Christians interested in learning about Islam. He has also co-authored Understanding Islam and Christianity: Beliefs That Separate Us and How to Talk About Them with Josh McDowell.