Time and Place: Online, Canvas

Course Description: This course is designed to critically investigate the accounts of Prophet Muhammad's life, achievements and his relations with Jewish and Christian communities in 6th-7th century Arabia. It will expose students to "classical", "critical," and "revisionist" studies/views on the life of the Prophet and the early history of Islam. The course will also examine the perception of the Prophet in Europe and the legacy of the Prophet Muhammad in modern Muslim communities. The reading list includes some of the most recent, ground-breaking studies as well as the earliest sources (in translation) on the subject. By the end of the course, students will have gained an insight into one of the most charismatic figures in human history and the various methods and approaches to the study of his life. The course is suitable for beginner and advanced level students as the reading material for each module is tailored accordingly. The course instructor will provide all reading material and aside from an inquisitive mind there are no prerequisites for the course.

Course Objectives:

- To develop an understanding of the life of the Prophet Muhammad in the historical context of the cities of Mecca and Medina.
- To expose students to the earliest Islamic sources on the Prophet, and various methods to study these sources.
- To provide up-to-date knowledge of current trends, debates and studies on the life of the Prophet and the early history of Islam.
- To study the perception of Prophet Muhammad in Western societies.
- To examine the legacy of Muhammad in modern Muslim communities.

The module will develop key skills such as:

- retrieving and utilising resources to which they have been directed
- identifying resources on their own initiative
- assessing the suitability and quality of resources
- planning and successful completion of written assignments
- self-organization and time-management
- self reliance and self criticism
- critical thinking

Master of Arts in Religious Studies: Learning Outcomes

1. To demonstrate foundational and critical knowledge of one's own religion by the study of the key historical events and major concepts surrounding the life of the Prophet and the origins of early Islam.
2. To enable students to understand various events and theories regarding the life of the Prophet and early Islam, and their relevance to Christian and Jewish communities of Arabia.
3. To demonstrate the knowledge, capacities, and willingness to respectfully engage other religions and world views by examining different perspectives on the study of the life of the Prophet and comparing the views of various groups such as Shi'ism and Sunnism, and Christianity.
4. To demonstrate knowledge of the practices of one's own religious tradition and the capacity to appreciate the practices of other religious traditions by studying some of the common concepts and interactions between Islam, Christianity and Judaism.
5. To demonstrate the ability to relate theory and practice in the social contexts in which a religion's communities exist, by studying the legacy of the Prophet Muhammad in modern Muslim communities.

Doctor of Ministry: Learning Outcomes

3. To demonstrate the knowledge, capacities, and willingness to respectfully engage the religious pluralism of contemporary American society through exposure to the teachings of other faiths and those who practice those faiths:
By studying the life of the Prophet and his attempt to create a multicultural community in Medina (the Constitution of Medina).
5. To demonstrate reflective and intentional critical assessment of their style of ministry in effecting change of their ministry setting: By studying the life of the Prophet and contemplating on the example of his engagement with the community in the different settings of the cities of Mecca and Medina.

PhD

1. Comprehensive knowledge in Christian-Muslim relations, theologies of interreligious engagement, or interfaith dialogue: By studying the Prophet's interactions with Christian and Jewish communities, and the relevant verses of the Qur'an that were revealed to the Prophet.
2. Competence to produce and engage in original research and writing to advance the scholarship on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations for the benefit of faith communities, academy, and society: By exposing students to some of the earliest primary sources as well as the most recent studies, trends and methodological developments on the early history of Islam.
3. Competence to teach this area in religious communities and academia by providing advanced level learning on the subject.

Course Assignments and Learning Outcome Assessment objective covered:

Assignment	Due Date(s)	Learning Outcome(s) assessed by assignment	% of final course grade
Active Participation	TBA		30%
Reflection Paper	TBA	MA #1 DMIN#2	20%
Final Project	TBA	MA #4 and #5 DMIN#3	50%

Course Expectations and Classroom Policies:

Attendance Policy: Active attendance in class is required. If you know you will be unable to attend a class session please inform the professor in advance. Missing two sessions will result in an automatic lowering of your final grade by 10%. Missing three or more sessions will result in automatic failure of the course.

3 - 4 or more absences --- without a serious reason should be an automatic failure. We might want to discuss this further, but if a student misses 25% of class for any reason except a dire emergency it should be a failure or withdraw.

For online courses? I would suggest 3-4 or more weeks without posts equal 3-4 class absences and should be dealt with in the same manner.

The student handbook specifies the policy for DMin, which also fits the intensive or 5 day courses which is essentially if 25% of course is missed then the student fails the course. In a 14 week course, this would be 3.5 class absences - Students who are forced to miss a class session should contact the faculty member teaching the course to make arrangements to complete any coursework. In no case may Doctor of Ministry students miss more than one and a half day-long sessions per course per semester (in courses that meet on the D.Min. schedule for five days in a semester) and still successfully complete the requirements of the course.

Written assignment policy: Students are expected to write a 3000-word essay on a topic that will be provided in the second week of the teaching term. The essay will count 50% towards their final mark.

Essays must be submitted printed with the main text in a 12-point font with double line spacing. Footnotes or endnotes may be at a reduced font size (minimum 10-point) and may be single spaced. Word counts must be included on the first page of the essay. The essays must follow Turabian style guide.

For additional information on format, proper footnotes, acknowledgments, etc., students are directed to consult the Hartford Seminary General Guidelines for a Research Paper. These guidelines can be picked up in the student forms center or downloaded from our website at: <http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/student-writing-resources/>. Students may also consult Kate L. Turabian's, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses and Dissertations, (6th Edition, University of Chicago Press, 1996), upon which the guidelines are based.

Seminary research paper guide <http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/student-writing-resources/>

Word count

The 3000-word count should include: all text, all footnotes or endnotes, all non-statistical appendices, all tables (all of this will be done automatically by a word-processor word count), and all words (e.g. captions) associated with pictorial illustrations (these will have to be counted by hand if the words fall within the picture boundary of the graphic. In addition, each graphic (graphs, diagrams and pictorial illustrations) should be counted as an extra 20 words.

The following should not be included in the word count: the bibliography, the title page (and any illustrations on it), and any acknowledgements or non-substantive preface.

Marking Penalties

Length in excess of stated limit:

- Between 5% and 20%: ten mark penalty
- Between 20% and 50%: twenty mark penalty
- Above 50%: mark of zero

Allowable Sources – Around 70 percent of the essay must rely on academic books and journal articles. 30 percent may rely on other sources.

Seminary Grading Scale

- | | |
|--------------|--|
| A (95-100) | Demonstrates excellent mastery of the subject matter, a superior ability to articulate this, and provides helpful connections to daily life or contemporary issues. Exceeds expectations of the course. |
| A- (90-94) | Demonstrates mastery of the subject matter, ability to articulate this well, and makes connections to daily life or contemporary issues. Exceeds expectations of the course. |
| B+(87-89) | Demonstrates a very good understanding of the subject matter, able to articulate lessons learned in the assignment well. Meets expectations of the course. |
| B (83-86) | Demonstrates an understanding of the subject matter and the ability to articulate lessons learned. Meets expectations of the course. |
| B-(80-82) | Demonstrates an understanding of the material at hand, has some difficulty articulating this, and basic connection of the material to daily life or contemporary issues/life. Meets basic expectations for the course. |
| C+(77-79) | Demonstrates a basic comprehension of the subject matter, weak articulation and connections. Does not meet expectations for the course. |
| C (70-76) | Demonstrates a minimal comprehension of the subject matter and has difficulty making connections. Does not meet expectations of the course. |
| F (below 70) | Unable to meet the basic requirements of the course. |

- Grades range from A to C and F; A+'s and C-'s are not part of the grading system.
- On a 4.0 GPA scale -- A(4.00), A-(3.66), B+(3.33), B(3.00), B-(2.66), C+(2.33), C(2.00) and F(0.00). A grade point average of no less than B- (2.66) is required to maintain good standing. The minimum G.P.A. required for graduation is 2.75.

The Dmin grade scale is different! Any DMin student should be graded on fail, low-pass, pass, high-pass. High Pass(95-100), Pass (83-94), Low Pass(70-82), and Fail(below 70)

Email Policy: The instructor will use the official Hartsem student email addresses for all communications. Please check your Hartsem email account regularly.

Plagiarism and Academic Integrity: Academic honesty and integrity are expected of all students.

Plagiarism exists when: a) the work submitted was done, in whole or in part, by anyone other than the one submitting the work, b) parts of the work, whether direct quotations, ideas, or data, are taken from another source without acknowledgement, c) the whole work is copied from another source [especially a web based source], or d) significant portions of one's own previous work used in another course. See "Plagiarism" at <http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/policies/>.

Appropriate Classroom etiquette and use of technology: In order to respect the community within the classroom: 1) Mute all cell phones during class; 2) Utilize laptops for the sole purpose of taking class notes. Please do not surf the web, email, or other programs during class time. Such use of the computer during class is disrespectful of the class and professor, and may result in lowering your participation grade.

Inclusive Language:

Hartford Seminary is committed to a policy of inclusion in its academic life and mission. All members of the community are expected to communicate in language that reflects the equality of genders, openness to diverse cultural and theological perspectives, and sensitivity to one another's images of God.

Extensions: Extensions for papers will be given for illnesses or family emergencies only in consultation with the instructor.

Official Handbooks: For all other questions you might have regarding policies or procedures, please check the student handbook <http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/student-handbook/> and seminary policies at Academic policies are listed at <http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/policies/>
